Skardu

Khaplu

Deosai Plains

Skardu is a city in the Gilgit-Baltistan province of Pakistan. It serves as the capital of Skardu District. It was settled 1500 years ago at the confluence of the Indus and Shigar Rivers.

Khaplu, which is a beautiful landscape with high summits, flowing blue waters and waterfalls.

Deosai is the combination of two words 'Deo' (giant) and 'Sai' (shadow). For centuries, it is believed that this place is haunted by giants, thus the name 'The Land of the Giants' came into being.

Skardu is considered as the gateway to the Eight Thousanders (nearby Kakakorum range, that houses K2, and Gasherbrum (I and II)).

As soon as one leaves Skardu, a narrow, paved road with poplar trees lined up on both sides provides a soothing shade for the travellers as they make their way through small specks of sunlight filtering through the leaves; casting shadows on the darkened road, leaving an aesthete spellbound.

This area remained uncrossable for ages due to abundance of variety of wildlife here. Icy winds, thunderstorms, and presence of wildlife make it impossible to dwell here even in this age, that's why Deosai is mostly uninhabited.

This city has some of the most beautiful lakes to offer, among them Upper and Lower Kachura Lakes, Katpana Lake, Blind Lake, are a must see.

Places of interest are Khaplu Bazaar and Khaplu Fort (built in 1840).

Kaghan

Kaghan is a valley located in the Khyber Pakhtunkhwa province of Pakistan. It is a popular tourist destination with majestic mountains surrounding the entire valley.

Kaghan is home to some of the most breath-taking lakes in the country, namely Saif-ul-Muluk lake, Lulusar Lake, and Dudi-patsar lake. Among the three, Saif-ul-Muluk offers the most stunning views with snow-capped mountains acting as a backdrop to the fresh water lake.

Tourists enjoy breathtaking vistas as well as the excellent food of restaurants setup on the river.

Islamabad

The capital city of Pakistan, Islamabad lies at the foot of the Margalla Hills. This picturesque city is home to 20 universities, and one of the most beautiful and largest mosques in the world.

Popular tourist attractions in and around Islamabad are Faisal Mosque, Margalla Hills, Pakistan Monument, Pir Sowaha, Daman-e-Koh, Shakarparian, Lake View Park, and Saidpur Village.
